Goals and Objectives

Definition of Goals and Objectives

Affirmative action goals and objectives are those specific action-oriented procedures that result in equal employment opportunity. Affirmative action goals are not fixed quotas. They are implied minimums which, when reached or exceeded, indicate that equal employment is a reality.

Intent of Goals and Objectives

Traditionally, affirmative action goals and objectives have been made for minority group members and women. The affirmative action objectives for women differ from those developed for minorities at our agency in that, traditionally, women have made up a substantial portion of our work force.

- I. Goals for minority groups are:
 - a. To actively recruit qualified minority applicants for positions at Community Action.
 - b. The hiring of more minority group members.
 - c. The need to broaden minority group member participation in all categories.

Quantitative Goals

To employ minority group members and women to adequately meet equal opportunity requirements:

- I. Take efforts to maintain present minority percentage of employees and hire additional minorities when qualified applicants present themselves by expanding the recruitment possibilities. This will be done by the following:
 - a. Job openings are posted on the agency web-site concurrent with their announcement to other sources.
 - b. Openings are posted at each of our locations.
 - c. Applications are available online and at each of our locations.
 - d. Head Start parents are notified of agency openings.
 - e. Notices of job openings are provided to Iowa Workforce Development Center.
 - f. All notices of job openings indicate that Community Action is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
 - g. Selection procedures are followed in accordance with the agency's policies.

Non-Quantitative Goals

- I. To ensure that all program directors are knowledgeable on equal employment opportunity and affirmative action matters by providing training.
 - a. Provide training on Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action topics to be attended by program directors.
 - b. Provide one-on-one training for newly hired supervisors and program directors as needed.
